Sunday is Easter.

Children beginning to want "to go barefoot".

Extra Assorted Carnations for Easter for sale at the Record Office, Saturday.

Plenty of Tobacco Cotton at Batson's.

Come in and let us fit you up with horse and Jack bills before it is too late.

Father O'Bryan of Richmond conducted service at the home of Mr. N. Miller Wednesday morning.

Mr. Ed. Morrow was seen recently taking a new hoe home with him. Gardening? No, digging bait.

LOST: On or near public square, breast pin, resembling bunch of violets. Reward. Mrs. Mattie Duncan.

Do not forget the Dudderer sale will be at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon instead of Saturday morning as advertised.

Soon the ring of the mechanics hammer will be heard, then you may look out for a dearth of carpenters in Lancaster.

If new automobiles are an indication of a thrifty community, surely the income tax collector should reap a harvest in Lancaster.

Soon the old timer who has complained incessantly of rheumatism all winter will drive away his pains seining minnows or "wading the riffles after a big 'un".

The only persons who ever visited Lancaster and were not pleased with their reception, were those who were brought here by an officer, charged with some offense and lodged in jail, and they do say Uncle Dave Ross feeds better than most jailers.

Time Of Sale Changed.

The time of the sale of Mrs. Bettie Dudderer, which was announced for 10 o'clock a. m. next Saturday, has been changed to 2 o'clock p. m. of that date, in order not to conflict with a sale to be held in the country in the forenoon.

Bro. Pollitt Building At Wilmore.

G. W. Wills sold to Rev. H. S. Pollitt of Lancaster, a lot belonging to Rev. W. L. Clark a part of the Robert Thompson tract recently purchased by Rev. Clark. Rev. Pollitt will begin building a residence at an early date. —Wilmore Cor. Jessamine Journal.

Lancaster Boy Prospering.

It will be pleasing to the many friends of Mr. James L. West to know that he is making a success as an oil salesman in western Kentucky and is taking high rank among the ninety salesmen employed by the Western Oil Co. of Indianapolis Ind. Mr. West is at present at Pembroke Ky.

Church Undergoing Repairs.

The Presbyterian church which was recently damaged by fire, is undergoing extensive repairs. The damage by fire is being replaced with new work and the interior of the building is being handsomely decorated throughout. Expert decorators from Cincinnati are doing the work.

CANDY AND CAKE SALE.

The Circle Girls will conduct a candy and cake sale at the Central Record building next Saturday. This club is doing some magnificent work for missions and should be encouraged. Buy your Easter cakes and candies from them.

New Church Officers Elected.

At the Presbyterian church on last Sunday morning, Messrs Horace K. Herndon, Edwin M. Walker and Cabell Denny were elected Elders of the church the latter having been a Deacon for a number of years. At the same time Messrs. W. O. Goodloe, John G. Kinnaid, Brewer Layton, Alex Doty Jr. and John Askins were chosen as Deacons. The ordination services will take place on the third Sunday morning of this month.

Helps Its Appearance.

That good paper the Danville Messenger has installed a new linotype and the entire paper is now set by machine, which materially improves its appearance. However, before the machine was installed the Messenger presented a most attractive appearance, the mechanical part of it was equal to that of any paper in the state, and the news columns most assuredly could not be surpassed by any Kentucky weekly.

Tree Trimming.

We are not experts on tree trimming. "Dr." Harmon, who has been doing a great deal of this kind of work in Lancaster of late, may, or he may not, but we do not pretend to say, but we know he has used the axe unmercifully, in so far as the present symmetry and beauty of the trees are concerned. It takes just about as long to grow a good, big useful shade tree as it does to grow a good, big useful boy—sometimes longer, and once grown, we should be careful about how it is pruned. Better superintend the pruning of your trees instead of paying for having it pruned by the cord, the more wood taken from the more money paid the pruner (T).

WILL S. ELKIN RECEIVES HANDSOME TRIBUTE

At The Hands Of The United Drug Company.

The Atlanta Constitution of April 2d contains a picture and devotes an entire column to a very complimentary write up of Mr. William S. Elkin, who is engaged in the drug business in Atlanta. Mr. Elkin has recently been elected a director of the United Drug Co., one of the strongest combinations of drug men in the United States, whose membership consists of over 7,000 druggists throughout the country. The chief aim of this company is to raise the standard of drug stores throughout the country, and to this end, many of them have eliminated the sale of cocaine and such injurious drugs as well as the sale of intoxicating liquors, and they hope to go the pure food law one better and raise the standard above what is required by law in the matter of purity.

Will Elkin is a son of Capt. T. A. Elkin of this place and has been in Atlanta for many years, engaged in the drug business, and has risen to the top in his profession, and if the United Drug Co desire to raise the standard of the business, we know of no better manner to accomplish it than to secure for its directorate such men as Will Elkin.

NEW INDUSTRY ESTABLISHED BY MR. JOE HASELDEN

A Credit To The City.

The old postoffice building owned by Mr. W. T. West, situated on Lexington street has been thoroughly remodeled, a new and handsome front put in, concrete floors, neatly painted inside and out and now presents as handsome appearance as any store room in Lancaster. The building is to be occupied by Mr. Joe S. Haselden as a bottling works, and all the latest and most improved machinery for the manufacture of carbonated waters has been installed, and the establishment now complete, is second to none in the state.

Mr. R. E. Nelson of the Corbin Ice & Carbonating Co. of Corbin Ky, has been here for the last several weeks superintending the installation of the machinery, and everything is in tip top shape and first class running order.

"Joe" Haselden is a Lancaster boy, and an energetic one, he deserves the unstinted patronage of the town and county in his new enterprise, and he will undoubtedly receive it, as well as the patronage in his line of adjoining counties. He has also purchased a handsome new autotruck, and is prepared to deliver the output of his establishment on short notice, and a telephone call will quickly bring this handsome machine to your door with whatever product of the "Lancaster Bottling Co's" plant you may desire.

Mr. Roger Aldridge, a nephew of Mr. Haselden, and himself a polite and gentlemanly young man is also connected with the establishment, and both he and Mr. Haselden will take great pleasure in having their friends call and inspect the new plant.

TRIBBLE TO THE RESCUE

Mr. Alexander Tribble has gone to the relief of fire swept Danville; he has rented the old Edelen House at the corner of Fourth and Broadway, and will open up a rooming house which will assist materially in relieving the present dire distress of the traveling public who are compelled to remain over night in that city. Mr. Tribble is a past master at the hotel business, and if given the proper encouragement, would be the proper man to get behind a scheme to erect a new building to replace the burned Gilcher.

Danville is yet without a hotel, nor does there seem to be any tangible scheme on foot to build one; about the closest thing to the building of a new structure was Owen McIntyre's April 1st dream, which should it materialize, would fulfill the ideas that many people have heretofore entertained about Danville, but alas, 't was but a dream.

How the mighty have fallen. Danville the much vaunted "Queen Of The Bluegrass", the center of the social whirl of Central Kentucky, looked up to and revered by all surrounding towns, self conscious, proud and haughty, yet when misfortune overtakes her and her best and only hotel is burned to the ground, she sits calmly and allows the town to become a laughing stock for the state, allow placards to be posted in the hotels throughout the state warning the traveling public to "stay away from Danville, no hotel!" Shame on you Danville, get busy and redeem yourself.

Best Seed Oats, Seed Corn, Lime, Cement, Brick, Sand and Salt. We will sell you corn or buy yours. We will sell you hay or buy yours. Our prices are as low as any other standard goods. Garrard Milling Co.

MASONS OF EASTERN KY. SPEAK IN GLOWING TERMS OF RECEPTION.

Accorded Them Upon Their Recent Visit To Lancaster.

The following extract is taken from the Barbourville Mountain Advocate in which they give a glowing account of a recent visit made by a number of Royal Arch Masons of that and neighboring towns to Central Kentucky towns, Lancaster included in the list:

"On arrival at Lancaster, we were met at the depot with automobiles, that is those of us who had not missed the train, and were driven to the Hotel, (only Green and McDonald made connection) the remainder of the party having missed their train at Richmond, but the Lancaster boys were not to be disappointed and set out for the remainder of the team in automobiles, a distance of 24 miles, and returned with them about 5 o'clock in the evening.

We at once went to work, and in the middle of the work, we were called off to the banquet hall, where the table was groaning under the burden of good things that had been prepared by the daughter of one of the companions, and we were treated to the greatest feast, it seemed to us that human skill could prepare; after the first course, we were treated to oratory by Hon. W. C. Black Grand High Priest; J. C. McKee, Grand Chaplain, and Hon. Dave Jackson, now of Louisville, Grand Secretary, and others, which was enjoyed by all present. W. O. Rigney was toastmaster, and let us know he was right on the job.

It has been said by many that the people of the Bluegrass section of Kentucky were obstinate, that they were not friendly or sociable. Let us say to you now, dismiss such bancomb from your minds forever; for this is untrue there is nowhere on the earth, a better people than the citizens of the little city of Lancaster, it was said by one of their speakers that they did not even have a latch on their doors, to attach a string to, and we believe it.

If you wish to change location, and want to go to a sure enough good town and county, a place where you will be treated with the utmost affection and kindness, where you can find a friend that will stay with you even in the seventh trouble, do not pass Lancaster. We are going back for another treatment of the "good will," for we would like to go there and just stay.

After we had finished the work for the night we had more speeches and a good time, and finally way toward rooster crowin' time, we went to bed only to dream of Lancaster and her most generous people."

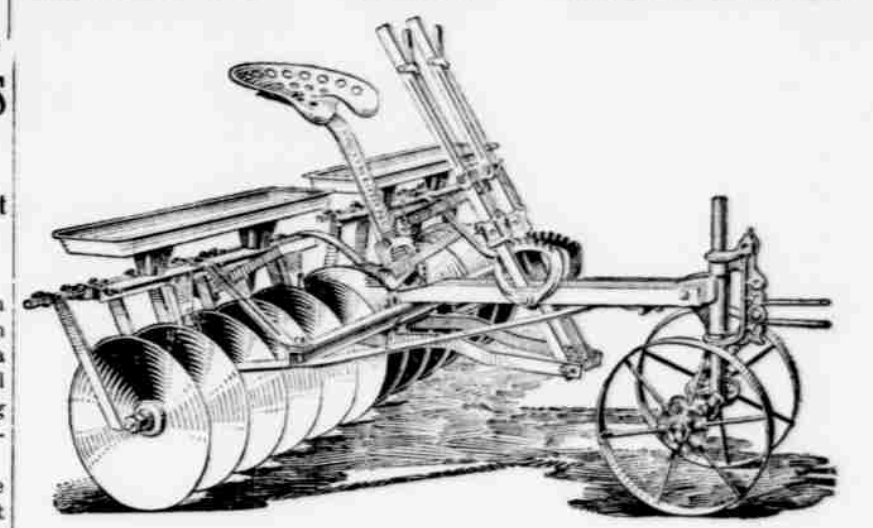

We are at a loss to know where our eastern Kentucky neighbors conceived the idea that we of the Blue Grass were "obstinate" "unfriendly" or "not sociable", and we are indeed glad that they availed themselves of an opportunity of becoming undeceived as to these characteristics which have been unjustly ascribed to us. We are sure that for true "Kentucky hospitality" one need travel no further than Lancaster, and a stranger, be he Mason or what not, is invariably accorded the very best treatment the instant he comes within our gates, and this treatment is accorded him just so long as he proves himself worthy of it.

We have often heard vague, undefined rumors that many of the people of eastern Kentucky that cherished an idea that the people of the Blue Grass were prejudiced against the "people of the mountains" as they choose to call themselves, and we do not feel it incumbent upon ourselves to attempt to disprove this nonsensical idea, we simply refer them to the scores of people of eastern Kentucky who have in the last few years taken up their residence among us, ask them have they been accorded ill treatment at our hands, have we proven "obstinate" or "unsociable", or have the society lines been drawn against them, and you will have the very ready answer that they were welcomed with open arms as we welcome all good and desirable citizen to our community. We speak for Lancaster and Garrard county, and we claim for these no superiority over our neighboring counties. The Blue Grass and the Mountains are constantly coming in closer touch with each other, and as the bonds are drawn closer these mistaken ideas are cast aside and we come to the realization that we are all Kentuckians, whether from the Blue Grass, Bear Grass, Mountains, the Pennyrite or the Purchase, we stand upon the same ground, our interests are identical, we are blood brethren seeking a common good, the up-building of the grand old Commonwealth and placing her where she rightly belongs, in the front ranks of the states of the Union.

NEW OPERA HOUSE AND PICTURE SHOW BUILDING.

In Course Of Construction In Lancaster.

Mr. Luther E. Herron has associated several gentlemen with him and is constructing a building on his lot on Stanford street to be utilized as a Garage and Opera House. The building is to be of concrete blocks, 40x30 feet, two stories, or rather one story and basement, the lower or basement story to be used as a Garage, while the ground floor will be fitted up as a moving picture show house and theater. Ground has already been broken and the building will be pushed to an early completion.

STREET FAIR LITTLEJOHNS AGGREGATION

TO BE IN Lancaster Week Of May 11th Under Auspices I. O. O. F.

The Littlejohn Amusement Co., will come to the Ball Park in Lancaster during the week of May 11th under the auspices of the local lodge of Odd Fellows. This company is well known to the people of Lancaster, having made two previous visits here under the auspices of the same lodge, and have given splendid satisfaction both times. Mr. Littlejohn is a splendid gentleman and has many friends in Lancaster; he carries the highest class of attractions, and will have nothing under his management which will offend the most fastidious. All of his attractions this year are new and catchy, and to use his own expression is "the best ever". A little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men, and Garrard county always turns out en masse to visit the Street Fair.
